

Biographical Summary - Eric S. Glover

Eric S. Glover serves as the Chief of the Civil Enforcement Section of the Office of the Attorney General for the District of Columbia, which represents the District, its employees, and various agencies in affirmative and administrative litigation matters before administrative boards, the DC Office of Administrative Hearings, and the Superior Court of the District of Columbia. Prior to joining the Civil Enforcement Section, Mr. Glover oversaw the District of Columbia Office of Risk Management's Tort Liability Program, and served as an Assistant Attorney General with the Office of the Attorney General's Civil Litigation Division, defending negligence, constitutional, and employment discrimination lawsuits. Mr. Glover previously practiced criminal, civil, and medical malpractice law in New York City. He serves on the Council for Court Excellence's Board of Directors and Strategic Planning Subcommittee, co-chairs the Washington Bar Association's (WBA) Knowledge is Power: Brown Bag Committee, and is a founding member of the WBA Military and Government Lawyers Section. Previously, Mr. Glover served as a member of the DC Bar's Litigation Section's Steering Committee. He also participates in various community service programs throughout the District. A native Bostonian, Mr. Glover received his bachelor's degree in political science from Morgan State University, and his Juris Doctor from Howard University School of Law.